You can make a difference! If you can help out by donating a few hours of your time, please indicate this in the box below. No musical knowledge is necessary. Session coordinator would require being present for a whole session and overseeing the running of the session-opening and closing and ensuring that things run smoothly. This person could double up with announcing, if they felt able, to economize resources.

Teachers and competitors are reminded of the strict copyright legislation regarding the use of printed music. A list of AMCOS Publishers that have agreed to their music being photocopied for use by an adjudicator at Eisteddfod competitions is available on page 15 at http://www.apra-amcos.com.au/downloads/file/Music%20Consumers/eisteddfods_2006.pdf

If the publisher is not on this list you will need to contact the publisher directly for permission to make copies of the music. Do not leave this until the last minute as it can take some time for this to be obtained. Most publishers can be contacted via email and generally are very accommodating.

Answers to many questions including altering the score, copying music, adapting the music, transposing music and arranging music can be found by referring to a booklet entitled A Practical Guide to the use of Print Music at
